

Part VII – TOD Resources

For those wanting to learn more about transit-oriented development concepts and issues, the following resources are either available on-line or at the Neighborhood Planning and Zoning Department (NPZD). In addition, NPZD has available literature reviews on many topics related to TOD prepared by students at the University of Texas Community and Regional Planning Department.

Non web-based publications:

Dittmar and Ohland, The New Transit Town
ULI, Ten principles for successful development around transit
ULI, Developing Around Transit

Internet links to professional association and interest group publications, web-based data sources and organizations promoting TOD and Smart Growth.
